AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION
ONE HUNDRED FIFTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING
JANUARY 4 – 7, 2001 – BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

SESSION	TITLE OF PAPER	AUTHOR
6	Sleeping With The Enemy	Anne Forrester Barker Michigan State University
11	Civil Capability, Uncivil Expectations: Gender and Responsibility in the Argentine Criminal Code, 1880-1921	Julia E. Rodriguez University of New Hampshire
19	Self-Promotion or Valid Historical Narratives?: Reexamining the "Relaciones de Meritos" as Sources of Juridical Proof in Idolatry Trials in Yucatan, 1570-1780"	John F. Chuchiak IV Assumption College
24	Bridging the Gap between Reform and Revolution: The Activities of the British Teachers' Labour League and the Education Workers' International in the Nineteen Twenties and Thirties	Christine Collette Edge Hill College of Higher Education
31	Friedrich Meinecke and the Limits of Historicism	Troy R. E. Paddock Southern Connecticut State University
31	The "Soft Law" of the Austrian Historical Narrative under the Hapsburgs	Mark E. Blum University of Louisville
52	International Socialism and the Problems of War and Peace: The Discussion on Peace Conditions in the Second International, 1914-1918	Agnes Blänsdorf University of Kiel
53	When "Subalterns" Serve as Colonial Officials: Ambiguities of Medical Registration in South India	Gary J. Hausman University of Manchester
57	Community and Public Culture: The Marwaris in Calcutta c. 1897-1997	Anne Hardgrove University of Texas at San Antonio

73	The Science of Prejudice	Diana Selig University of California at Berkeley
79	Packaging Patriotism: Popular Culture and U. S. Global Surge of 1898 and Beyond	Christopher A. Vaughan, Rutgers University
80	Reinterpreting the Ambassador to Japan (1805-1806): Rezanov (1764-1807) versus Loewenstern (1777-1836)	Victoria Moessner University of Alaska at Fairbanks
102	Assemblies of the Clergy in Early Modern Europe	Sean T. Perrone Saint Anselm College
114	Who Is Keeping Our History? Documentation Strategies for the History of Social Activism and Public Policy Advocacy in New York State	Brian Keough State University of New York at Albany
116	Radicals, Reformers, Rightists, and Racists: Reinventing Historical Reality in the Politics of the 1960s	Robert R. Tomes St. John's University
116	Deconstructing Post-Traumatic Stress: Vietnam Veterans Memoirs that Discard Traditional Narrative	Daniel H. Leyes Brookdale Community College
116	The Protest of Mythology and Withdrawal in Late Sixties Rock Music	Thomas M. Kitts St. John's University
116	Comment	Robert J. Weiss Prentice Hall Publishing
125	Forming a Transnational Narrative: Nineteenth Century International Migrants and the Purposes of Immigrant Personal Correspondence	David A. Gerber State University of New York at Buffalo
128	A "Wilder Scheme than the French Socialist Ever Dreamed": Reform Movements in the United States and France During the Mid-Nineteenth Century	Timothy M. Roberts Metropolitan State College of Denver

130	Finding "The Real Jew"" The Protestant Religious Press and the Jewish Immigrant, 1883-1908	Lawrence G. Charap Johns Hopkins University
130	"Whenever a Hebrew Suffers, I Suffer With Him": Jews and Christians in New Orleans	Scott M. Langston Southwest Baptist University
136	Social Hiking: The Naturfreunde Organization and the Socialist Appropriation of Nature in Weimar Germany	John Alexander Williams Bradley University
141	CPR for Historical Narratives: A Tribute to the Work of William A. Christian, Jr.	Mary Elizabeth Perry Occidental College